

18

19

20

21

22

23

24

South of the walk-in bunker section, an asphalt surface marks the Bunkervorplatz as a sports and exercise area. The farther south elephant feet - the foundations of the former blast furnaces - are partially integrated into a skating facility. Further east, they are located in an extensive meadow area and are designed as climbing objects. The plateau between the wall remains of the foundry hall was designed as an extensive cross-bike course.

18, 20: Skateplaza between two of the foundation-ruins © Claudia Dreyße, 2015
 19, View along the southside of the bunker monument © Claudia Dreyße, 2015
 21: viewpoint at the crossbike track, view to the skateplaza © Claudia Dreyße, 2015
 22+24: Constructiondetails combining old and new elements, © Claudia Dreyße, 2015
 23: Crossbike track © Claudia Dreyße, 2015
 25: Foundationruin, view to the monument bunker

25